HOW ABOUT A BREAK?

We have coffee breaks, ten-minute breaks, and other forms of relaxers which ease the tensions and refresh the minds. One Warren employer, however, apparently wonders if over-indulgence in such pleasures is not apt to reach the point where the break that will hurt will be the one that breaks him.

He sends us the following:

TO ALL EMPLOYEES:

Due to increased competition and a keen desire to remain in business, we find it necessary to institute a new policy -- effective immediately.

We are asking that somewhere between starting and quitting time, and without infringing too much on the time usually devoted to Coffee Breaks, Lunch Periods, Rest Periods, Story Telling, Ticket Selling, Vacation Planning, and the Rehashing of last night's T.V. Programs, that each employee endeavor to find some time that can be set aside and be known as the "Work Break".

To some this may seem a radical innovation, but we honestly believe the idea has great possibilities. It can conceivably be an aid to steady employment, and might also be a means of assuring regular pay checks.

While the adoption of the Work Break plan is not compulsory, it is hoped that each employee will find enough time to give the plan a fair trial. It is also hoped that those employees not in favor of adopting the Work Break idea will have fully completed their vacation plans.

DANGEROUS WIRING

It pays in safety to have a competent electrician inspect all wiring and drop cords in your house.

Doris L. Snook, extension home management specialist, The Pennsylvania State University, says the electrician can replace worn, unsafe cords and dangerous metal sockets with modern, well-insulated cords and sockets of porcelain, plastic, or hard rubber.

The electrician probably will recommend replacing some of the drop cords with ceiling fixtures controlled by wall switches. The cost of these changes will be small compared to the price you could pay in regrets.

YOUR HOSE BY NUMBERS

The confusing thing about gauge and denier in stockings is that one is finer when numbers are high, the other finer when numbers are low.

Gauge is the number of lengthwise stitches in 1 1/2 inches, explains Margery L. Bessom, extension clothing specialist, The Pennsylvania State University. The higher the gauge number the finer Denier means the size of the yarn. The lower the denier, the finer the yarn.

THREE VALUABLE TIPS

Most efficient wives are fully aware of these bits we hand out, but there are many young ladies who probably welcome such information. In fact, if you have any little tips that might be valuable, send them in to "Buyers Corner."

DRAGONS OPEN SEASON FRIDAY TRYS FOR PROS

Warren high school gridders will go to Corry next Friday night, September 9, for their first game of the 1955 football season. In the season's opener at Warren last year, the Corry eleven edged the is now an instructor at Gannon Blue and White, 13 to 12.

In action next Friday will be seven of the Hawks last winter. lettermen from last year's team which won 7, lost 2, and tied 1. They are Mike Shanshala and Jack Shattuck who have already won 2 letters, and Walter Kibbey, Tom Le-Trent, Don Mohney, Jim Shafer, and Jim Whitmire.

This year's Dragon team is untested under official fire, but in tune-up scrimmages with other clubs it has held its own. Coach Bell has a strong starting eleven, but is unprotected against injuries by a lack of depth.

Encouraging is the work of a couple young linemen who should see much action and there are a pair of promising backs coming along who should be of some value late in the season, and will carry the ball in the future if they continue to improve.

Ace has been given a two-weeks' leave by Gannon to work out with the Hawks. There are two spots for small fast men, and the Warren boy is given a chance to make one of these.

BASKETBALL TEAMS FORMED

With summer over, thoughts of basketball have begun to enter the minds of some Warren sportsmen. Already four teams, the Rockets, Style Shop, Youngsville, and the Warren Observer, have been formed and will enter the YMCA basketball loop. One of these teams may even put Warren back on the basketball map by bringing in topnotch out-of-town attractions.

COACH TO MISS SEASON

Bob "Red" Lytle, football coach at Titusville high school, will not be able to coach the 1955 edition of the Rockets because of a back injury. A graduate of Warren high school where he played football, Lytle has coached football at Titusville for many years.

CONQUER LAKE CHAUTAUQUA

Three Warren swimmers swam the 1 1/4 mile course across Lake Chautauqua in the third annual Conquer Lake Chautauqua Swim last Saturday.

Louise Culbertson finished first in the 15 to 16 age group for girls with a time of 38 minutes, 49 seconds.

Susan Crossett finished second in the women's division by swimming the course in 48 minutes, 43 seconds.

Pat Madden swam the course in 36 minutes, 50 seconds, and took seventh place in the 13-14 boys division.

Each swimmer who completed the swim received a certificate.

LAST HOT STOVE MEETING

The last Hot Stove meeting of the 1955 season will be held at the YMCA next Tuesday night, September 13, at 7:30. President John Carbon has requested that all ward chairmen and team managers be present at the short meeting in order that business matters of the 1955 baseball season can be wrapped up.

WILDCATS WIN TWO

The Ludlow Wildcats ended their 1955 season with two wins during the Labor Day weekend. On Sunday the 'Cats, aided by a 10-run fourth inning, trounced the Warren Elks, 17 to 9. Terry Carll was the winning hurler for Ludlow. Keith Holden and Eddie Fragale also saw mound duty for Ludlow during the game. John Juban caught. Play in the championship tournament has reached the final stages in most of the eight flights. Tim Creal, the defending champion, tied his own course record of 68 to beat Pete Juliano, and is playing Bill Rice who eliminated Dr. Sedwick.

They are playing thirty-six holes for the crown, with Tim three up at the end of eighteen.

In the consolation flight of the championship eight, John Carter has won the honors with a victory over Bob Walsh.

Chuck Blackman has won through to the finals of the first flight and will meet the winner of the Dr. Yerg-Phil Pritchard match. Westy Ensworth has won the second flight with a victory over Mark Nixon.

In the third flight Merle Rossell has reached the finals and will meet either Frank Perrin or Norman Lundahl. In the fourth flight Charley Thompson is a finalist and plays either Scotty Calderwood or Dr. Myers.

Fifth and sixth flight matches are behind schedule. The seventh will see John Fanaritis and Dr. Bryan play in the finals. Allen Vermilyea has won the eighth flight crown.

In ladies play, Mrs. Homer Cuibertson and Mrs. W. O. Lawson tied in division one for special event honors. Mrs. John Carter was low net, with Mrs. M. G. Keller second.

Mrs. Richard Costley was division two special event winner, and also was low net, followed by Mrs. Bramer Proctor. Division three net points went to Mrs. T. E. Gannoe and Mrs. Jeral Angove.

Next week they will have an 18hole match out of division, best two-ball.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

WHY NOT DO SOMETHING?

We hear and read thousands of words previous to every holiday aimed at saving lives on the highway. This paper carries a constant stream of display pages urging people to be careful. The safety organizations publish figures, the death's head is displayed, and no end of signs, warnings, and numerous warn the public that driving is dangerous. But at the holiday's end the figures always total up to the same frightening amount.

We have no way of measuring how much good the warnings and campaigns accomplish. Perhaps without these efforts the total would be increasing annually. No doubt the fact that the number of cars continually grows while the holiday accident figure holds fairly steady is encouraging. But we believe we can do much better.

the most guilty among us, outside of program which gives the President the unthinking motorist, is the manu- the right to make five per cent facturer. He wants to sell cars so cuts each year for three years, if much that he annually places a more dangerous weapon in the hands of amateur drivers. The power under those hoods gets no smaller, and the take-off of a modern car lends a sensation which few of us can resist.

With speed obviously our big killer, why do we hesitate to prevent it? Engines could be held down to a speed of sixty (or less), with exceptions made for emergency licenses, which would go to police, doctors, firemen, ambulances, and Alaska statehood bills. similar people.

The other major means of holding grant. down speed is the fear of arrest. But fear of arrest has little effect amendments. on the majority of motorists unless a potential police car is in wage to $1 an hour. sight. We need more policemen and we need them on the highway. Perhaps the original idea of a highway patrol in Pennsylvania wasn't such a bad idea. It could be applied to the more efficient combined arrangement by having a larger patroling detail and a few plain clothesmen specialists in each station. All would enforce the law, but each would follow up a case according to his specialty.

We know that highways crawling with police cars would soon lose their race track atmosphere.

There will be some murmuring against our suggestion that manufacturers be made to put safety in their cars. This we cannot understand. If we can regulate the size and weight of our vehicles to save the pavement, why can't we regulate the speed and power to save lives?

OUR CONGRESSMAN'S RECORD

Comes the time of year when we like to look at the record, the record in this case being the voting done by the gentleman whom we gadgets are utilized to scare and elect to express our wishes in Washington.

Congressman Gavin is the congressman from this district. He comes from Oil City and occasionally visits Warren, said visits being preceded by announcements to the effect that if you would like to see him on any score he will be your host. Perhaps your visit would be enhanced by some knowledge of how he voted.

He voted to raise his salary to $25,000. It was $15,000!

He did not support President We many times have written that Eisenhower in the reciprocal trade he wishes. Gavin voted nay.

SCHOOL OF CHURCH MUSIC

Sixty Episcopal parishes sent organists and choirmasters to a school of Church music at Trinity College, the latter part of August. Sponsored by a joint commission and taught by a four-man faculty, the school consisted of formal classroom instruction and practical demonstrations. Among those present was Richard A. Sidey, organist and choirmaster of Trinity Memorial church, in Warren.

BIG SEASON

It was a big year for Chautauqua, with over 55,000 visiting there during the regular season. The total attendance at operas, recitals, concerts and other attractions was over 200,000.

Those who so fully supported these events also showed it in a tangible fashion. A record $59,696 was raised on Old First Night to meet growing costs. And much progress was made toward the goal of a second million dollars for the Chautauqua Foundation.

The enthusiasm lasted right up until the last evening when 5,000 were present for the Sacred Song service. Proof that people are much interested in a wide variety of subjects and that art is finding an in-

Reminiscing about the earliest The early history of radio, some days of radio, the dean of radio entertaining fragments of which are commentators, H. V. Kaltenborn, currently appearing in "American confesses: "It was the listeners who Heritage" magazine, is largely the converted me. But after a but, in a very real sense, it was the few months the response changed listeners who shaped and guided character. At first, it was only the fact THAT THEY HEARD YOU that listeners reported. WHAT you said was relatively unimportant. The phrase 'your voice came into my living room as clear as a bell' occurred in hundreds of letters. That was the miracle, the marvel, that you could actually be heard. It was only later that listeners began to comment on WHAT I said and not on the fact that they HEARD what I SATURDAY

> In the light of the deluge that followed, some of the early anecdotes are pretty amusing. William S. Hedges, now vice-president of NBC, relates how, as a young reporter on "The Chicago Daily News," he was asked to compose a radio section for the paper. "Does this interfere with my regular assignments?" asked Hedges.

"No," said the editor. "You can do this new column in the afternoons. However, this may not last long. It may be just another fad SUNDAY like mah jong."

Another pioneer, Thomas H. Cowan, reveals that his old boss, Thomas A. Edison, had a sign on his door saying "I will not talk radio to anyone." Edison, Cowan reveals, always felt a bit chagrined that he let Lee de Forest beat him to the invention of the grid. (In his biography, Edison stated that he was only a step away from de Forest's invention and he could never quite understand why it didn't occur to

At any rate, not having invented radio, Edison was never very cooperative about it, even ordering Cowan to take his phonograph off the air because he didn't think it was doing the phonograph business any good. (Transmission was pretty bad then.) However, Cowan did wheedle the great man in front of a microphone once. "Now we have the opportunity of presenting the great and only Thomas A. Edison," said Cowan into the mike. "Will you say a few words, Mr. Edison?"

Mr. Edison said: "Good night." A few words was all he was asked for and a few words was all they got.

One of the earliest battles over the right to air opinion on the radio found H. V. Kaltenborn in radio and reported to him what the middle. "It seemed that Secretary of State Hughes had me tuned this fellow Kaltenborn should not in while there were a number of prominent guests in his home. Then suddenly comes this voice of some whippersnapper in New York City daring to criticize the Secretary of

Russia's New Face

By Marquis Childs

EN ROUTE TO AMERICA. --There are students of the Soviet Union, and among them those who have been most farsighted about events since Stalin's death, who are convinced that a revolutionary change is taking place. The revolution consists, in effect, of substituting for a dictatorship a government made up of a balance of forces, one force tending to check another force.

This is, of course, a highly optimistic interpretation, since if such a balance of forces can be maintained then there is real hope that in the foreseeable future the government of the Soviet Union will evolve in the direction of the freedoms of the West. It is only when one force contends with another, short of the use of violence, that a balance for freedom, which is always a relative term, can be struck.

Thus Nikita Khrushchev in pushing his vast schemes for new farm production must compete for manpower and material with Marshal Zhukov. Under Stalin all the big decisions were made by one man and to get crosswise of his will was very likely to mean liquidation. There is evidence that the men now governing Russia have had enough of that kind of system and they mean to try another.

The beginning is small and the road ahead is very long. For all the "atmosphere" of harmony generated at the summit meeting the Soviet continues to try to jam virtually all broadcasts from the West in Russian, including even the comparatively objective news presentations of the British Broadcasting Corporation. It is a very costly and complicated business to try to blank out the many transmitters that are beamed on Russia and the satel-

Perhaps the most intensive phase of the cold war has been on the communications front. The lead in trying to break through to peoples held in subjection behind the Iron Curtain has been taken by Radio Free Europe, a private agency which has had at least the sanction of the American government. Steadily since 1950, when a start was made with one 7,500-watt short-wave mobile transmitter, RFE has increased the number and the volume of its broadcasts. Recently monitoring stations at three points along the curtain reported 90 percent good or fair reception of RFE programs in Eastern European capitals.

Russia and the satellites maintain their isolation in an even more determined fashion when it comes to keeping out any foreign aircraft. Every other country in Europe is interlaced with air lanes and planes of various companies come and go every hour of the day. This is on a reciprocal basis so that, for example, British European Airways flies to Stockholm and other Scandinavian capitals and the Scandinavian Airlines System serves several cities in the British Isles.

Even Yugoslavia permits Swissair to make three flights a week from Zurich to Belgrade and return while the Yugoslav airlines fly to Switzerland. But with the exception of a few Swiss flights to one or two of the satellite capitals, the Communist bloc guards its air space with a fanatical zeal.

Perhaps the step proposed by President Eisenhower at Geneva -mutual reconnaissance by Russia and the United States of each other's strategic centers -- would at one stroke wipe out this fear. If such reconnaissance were carried out thoroughly there would no longer be any need for espionage, which is apparently the motivating

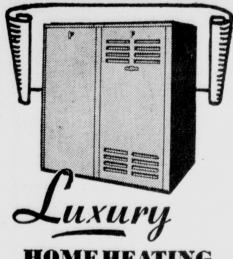

In the past decade the West has been saved again and again by the stubborn intransigence of the Soviet been the determination, as in the from Moscow.

OUTDOORS

SMALL GAME OUTLOOK

In spring and early summer each year, prior to setting the game seasons and bag limits, the Game Commission conducts a survey to determine the status of the various species to be hunted. On these findings, coupled with the experiences and results of previous years, the authorities decide what a reasonable harvest for the next season shall be, always conscious of the responsibility of providing the best possible shooting in succeeding years.

Based upon reliable information from available sources throughout Pennsylvania, the Commission found that this year the prospective supply of small game justifies open hunting seasons and daily and seasonal limits comparable in the main to those in effect last year, except as otherwise noted. Following is the situation in the case of each small game species as it appeared early in July this year:

BOBWHITE QUAIL - General increases in the population of Bobwhite Quail in most areas, including some areas in the northern part of the State, lend encouragement to prospects of a comeback in the species. Coupled with the available field stock, and the Commission's restocking plans, the Commission felt a State-wide season should be RUFFED GROUSE - Although the Commission anticipates that the grouse cycle may still be on the downward trend, studies made have indicated that there is no injurious effect to be expected from a normal harvest. Also, shooting during the low of the cycle does not appear to retard recovery once the cycle is again on the rise. Therefore, it was decided that the sportsmen should have a season similar to last year.

RINGNECK PHEASANTS - Natural reproduction of this species, where the terrain and agricultural practices are encouraging, indicates the population may be expected to equal made available to the sportsmen that of last year. The number of for release at maturity is expected tinued lack of interest in the taking to equal the number stocked in 1954. The day-old chick program has been with the two previous observations, brought the Commission to the conclusion that a season of similar length, with the same daily and season limits, could be justified.

RABBITS, COTTONTAIL - At the present time there appears to be a population of such proportion that no necessity is indicated for modifying the length of the season or the daily and season bag limit as applied in WILD TURKEYS - Natural reproduction in the extensive wild turkey range, coupled with the success of the wild turkey propagation program and the success of the extended stocking program in new territory, brought the Commission to the conclusion that a State-wide open season of similar length as last year, with the same daily and season bag limits was justified.

SQUIRRELS (GRAY, BLACK & FOX) - State-wide reports indicate that a bumper crop may be expected coons, foxes, etc., when they beand that a larger harvest can be afforded, for which reason the daily and seasonal bag limits were increased over last year.

SQUIRRELS, RED - With the con-

of this small animal, and a notable has discouraged trapping which orincrease in their population in pracincreased, and this fact, coupled tically all sections of the State, the Commission acted to continue the policy of allowing an open season in all months of the year excepting October, when again the season will be closed in the interest of preventing excuses for pre-season Game Law violations in wooded areas.

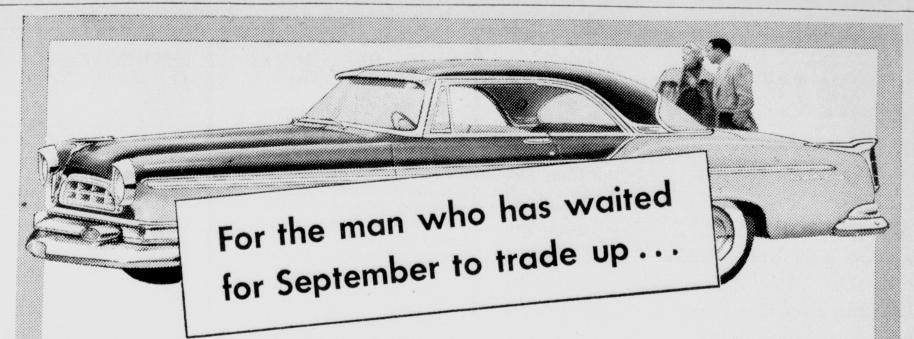

VARYING HARES (SNOWSHOE RABBITS) - Because of the scarcity of snowshoe rabbits in many parts Where these animals do occur, stocks appear to be as good as in portion of the State indicate that the population of this species continues on the increase and has reached such proportions as to become a detriment in the natural propaganesting birds of both upland and migratory nature. In addition, the incidence of diseases common to raccome overpopulated, led the Commission to establish exceptional measures of control in the belief that a smaller population would constitute less of a menace in such unprotected list.

event. The extremely low fur value dinarily functions to keep the species within reasonable control. The Commission therefore removed protection until such time as raccoons are determined to be numerically in balance with other species living in the same environment.

WOODCHUCKS (GROUNDHOGS) -Despite the fact that liberal seasons have been allowed on the woodchuck for several consecutive years, the population has continued to increase of the State, the Commission decided to the point where complaints origto limit the season to one week, inate from agriculturists in all portions of the State in increasing numbers. Realizing that an overpopulation constitutes a definite menace RACCOONS - Reports from every to agricultural practices and that consideration must be given to the owners of the land upon which the great percentage of small game hunting is conducted, the Commission removed protection from tion plan of wild game and ground the woodchuck until such time as a satisfactory population is believed to exist.

> GRACKLES - Beneficial assets of this species appear to be far overbalanced by its nuisance to agriculturists in most sections of the State. The Commission therefore acted to continue grackles temporarily on the RED FEATHER DAYS COMING Warren's 1955 Community Chest quota has been set at $62,000, an increase over last year's request by $3,789, in order that the participating agencies may receive allotments which are nearer to their minimum requirements. The campaign will be conducted during the week of October 17 through 24. Last year's quota was UNDER-SUBSCRIBED by nearly $1,700.

BALLOTS FOR THE ELECTION of community committeemen of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation organization of the U.S. Department of Agriculture will be mailed to all Warren County farmers within the next few days. All farmers are eligible to express their opinions by ballot and if the necessary information is not received soon immediate contacting of the Warren office in the courthouse annex is advised. Ballots must be returned no later than September 15.

THE HONORS LIST at Upsala College contained the name of Charles E. Johnson for the Spring semester of his sophomore year according to an announcement from the office of Dr. Harold S. Carlson, dean of students. Charles, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Johnson of 324 E. Fifth ave., Warren, attained an average between 2.25 and 2.49 to achieve this academic honor. He will continue his education when school convenes on September 19.

NEW ASSISTANT CHIEF EN-GINEER at the Allegheny Valve Co. is Donald E. Conaway, Jr., according to an announcement by J. H. DeFrees. Mr. Conaway received his education at Warren high school where he graduated in 1943 and from Cornell University from where he received his degree of Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering in 1950. He served with the U.S. Army between 1943 and 1946. He has recently been employed by Sylvania Electric Products, Inc. in an engineering capacity.

Warren May Have Ice Skating This Winter

If the public which has been asking for tennis courts and ice skating will support the Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce there probably will be facilities for these forms of recreation ready in time to complete the two tennis courts which have been started on Beaty field by the borough and to construct them in such a way that ice skating can be enjoyed on the same

The project awaits the approval of the Warren borough council which may consider the project at ren; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Arzner, its Monday meeting. It has met with the approval of the Warren recreation committee and the parks and playground committee. Work would be done in cooperation with the borough engineer.

The Jaycees have not decided how the money will be raised but the public will be asked to provide the funds. It is hoped that much of the labor can be provided by Jaycee members. Until money is raised the Jaycees will underwrite the original cost.

The paved area will be about 120 by 105 feet and there will be lights to provide both tennis and skating during the evening hours. The location is the skinned area near the steps leading down from Conewango ave. The work was started by the parks and playground committee last year, but council economies in 1955 deprived the committee of the funds needed to complete the work.

Check The Requirements, Maybe You Can Register

By Lewis Crippen

You have between now and September 17 to register for the November 8 General Election. No doubt, you would like to vote but either you do not know whether you are already registered or you are not sure if you qualify under the requirements as stipulated by state laws.

You are entitled to register for voting if (1) you are now twentyone years of age or (which is not commonly known) will be on or before November 9, 1955. (2) If foreign born, you must be a citizen of the United States for at least one month and shall be required to present your naturalization papers to the registrar. (3) You must have resided in the state for one year, or six months if you were born in Pennsylvania or previously registered here and then moved away. Remember the time is counted from the date of election not the date you register. (4) You must have resided in your election district since no later than September 8. (5) You must register in order to be qualified to vote if you have not voted in any election since the spring primary of 1953.

Your vote is very important. You should be qualified to express your opinions at the polls. You may register at the Warren county courthouse Mondays through Fridays between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. excepting noon hours and on Saturdays between 9 a. m. and noon up until the close of registrations on September 17.

You may register between 1 and 8 p. m. at any of the following special dates and places: SEPTEM-BER 12 - Youngsville and Sheffield; SEPTEMBER 13 - Clarendon and Columbus; SEPTEMBER 14 -Eldred and Kinzua townships; SEP-TEMBER 15 - Sugar Grove and Tidioute. It is not necessary for you to live in the community to register there as the registrations will be taken for all who reside in Warren County. Will you register to vote?

BANK ROBBER TIP

Perhaps our police are looking in the wrong direction for that man who is suspected of robbing the Tidioute bank. One report says that a Union City man is believed to have headed for Mexico, and that there are characteristics and habits attributed to him which make him suspect.

A vacationer reports to us that while visiting Canada recently she read an account of a bank robbery in that country which sounded very familiar. She then remembered why. It was accomplished in the same style as that used in Tidioute.

A car was stolen, the car was seen near the bank the previous day, a paper sack was held in the gun hand and it was a one-man job. This guy could parlay his grocery bag and other people's cars into quite a living.

SPECIAL FOR HAMS

Amateur radio operators in Pennsylvania can have special registration plates for their cars if they will write the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in Harrisburg for application blanks. Form RVG-6A is what you want. You must be licensed by the FCC and a resident of Pennsylvania. The special plates will earn you consideration during emergencies. The cost is $3.

RESERVED SEATS for high school football games will be available on Memorial Field again this year, we expect the Jaycees to announce soon. And the price may be only twentyfive cents.

ART CHAPMAN, vice president of the radio and television division of Sylvania, is making the pictures these days. He was seen on a television program last week, awarding prizes to swimmers. And he is seen in the summer edition of the Sylvania publication, "Beam", as part of an article on color TV. He also wrote the article, which says Sylvania will have limited quantities of the sets this fall, receiving both color and monochrome.

It is the same issue as that in which Dr. Quay McCune and members of the Warren General staff are pictured in a series telling the story about an emergency operation on Ed Lindsey.

THIS OLE HOUSE was built in 1821 and remodeled for Richard B. Miller, father of Pennsylvania's first forest nurseryman, in 1828. It has since passed out of the Miller family. From here to a point beyond the New York state line, the woods are full of trees which you may not see on another farm in Warren County.

According to an old contract now in the possession of Frank Miller, great-grandson of Richard, Orrin and Morgan Hancock agreed to furnish the labor for re-modeling (actually the changes were more extensive than the original building) at a total cost of $190 -- $50 in cash, $50 in leather, $60 in stock, and $30 in grain. They were given nine months to complete the work.

One clause in the contract reads as follows: "Said Miller lays the foundation for the house, draws all the timber to the spot, boards the hands, finds whiskey for raising and invites the hands, finds boards, nails, glass, and all the necessary materials for the building".

THESE TWO PICTURES WERE TAKEN FROM A 1926 ISSUE OF 'FOREST LEAVES''. They describe, better than words, the care taken with the Miller orchards twenty-nine years ago. Since then the woodsman's axe has taken its toll and nature has replanted the acreage promiscuously in an effort to preserve the varieties but not too concerned with neatness.

FROM ONE VANTAGE POINT NEAR A CLEARING in the deep forest we snapped this picture. How many different trees can you identify? At one time, the trees were planted in orderly orchards but nature's seeding has mixed quite a conglomeration -- more interesting perhaps but not nearly so rewarding in marketable lumber.

Sugar Grove and Chautauqua Lake on the Big Tree road still remain some of the original plantings of Frank Miller which were set out ALONG THIS HIGHWAY between between 1860 and 1899. The next time you travel the road (it is even worth a special trip) look carefully and see how many species you can identify.

Menapace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Menapace, Mt. Carmel, Pa., became the bride of Daniel T. Goldthwaite, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Goldthwaite, Marienville, Pa., on August 27. The ceremony was performed in the First Presbyterian church, Warren, by the Rev. Samuel Phoebus, of Marienville.

Following a Niagara Falls honeymoon, the newly-weds will reside in Warren. The Goldthwaites are both teachers in Beaty junior high school. Mr. Goldthwaite teaches ninth grade science and Mrs. Goldthwaite teaches eighth grade math. The best man was Robert E. Goldthwaite and the matron of honor was Mrs. James Gunkel.
